Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Dec. 10.—A number of small cases were disposed of in both court rooms this morning and the December session of criminal court is about completed.

John A. Robb of Somerset, was convicted of defrauding Frank Williams, colored, an aged inmate of the county house, out of a 50-cent piece, two-thirds of all the money he had. Under the pretense of writing him an insurance policy on November 16th, Robb secured the half dollar and to make the policy a forgery, gave him a receipt for a checkbook, one which he claims he has been distributing free of charge to all sufferers of this complaint.

At the hearing before Judge Van Sledright, Robb returned the 50-cent piece that did not settle the case in the eyes of one lawyer and the jury found him guilty of larceny. Judge Van Sledright sentenced him to pay the costs and serve four months in jail. The researchable presence of Robb to the pictures of Dr. Harvey H. Crippen, murderer recently executed in England, was noticed by many in the court room. County Detective Alex. Neff was prosecutor in the case. Before Judge Van Sledright this morning John Foley, William Crawford, and James Gorman were tried for larceny and receiving stolen goods. They were charged with receiving stolen goods.

Before the case was called on, the judge changed the order of the cases. The first case was that of John Foley, charged with larceny. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail. William Crawford was also found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail. James Gorman was found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail.

The case of John Foley, charged with larceny, was called on first. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail. William Crawford was also found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail. James Gorman was found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail.

The case of William Crawford, charged with larceny, was called on next. He was found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail. James Gorman was also found guilty and sentenced to pay the costs and serve four months in jail.

THE BULL DOG ON LONG TRIP.

Automobile Trying for 100,000
Mile Journey in Town.

HAS COVERED ABOUT 2,000

So far and is three days behind the schedule. Snow storm in Maryland keeping drivers back—One Takes Day's Rest Here.

There passed through Connellville yesterday the famous "Bull Dog" automobile, which is trying to run up 100,000 miles of travel and which up to the arrival in this city has accomplished exactly 17,500 miles of the journey.

In the battered car were two drivers and one of them Dr. Charles G. Perceval, editor of Health Magazine, dropped out of the "Bull Dog" for Pittsburgh.

Dr. Perceval, who is staying at the Arlington, said: "We have been in 30 States, 2 territories, the District of Columbia, Canada and Mexico, and have been received by the various managers of all the large cities from Denver and Portland, Maine, to New York and Washington, President Taft received us at the White House and gave us a very busy 12 minutes. He was greatly interested in our trip and gave us letters to show we had called on him."

"We are taking turns driving now trying to catch up with our schedule being three days behind owing to the heavy snow storm and blizzard which nearly put our trip out of business. One drives at day and then puts up at some hotel while the other pushes on with the car all night. I will remain in this city for a few days and then I will return to Pittsburgh and continue the trip in this way we hope to catch up the last three days by the time we reach Cincinnati, O."

The "Bull Dog" is a 1908 model Abbot and is a low model of day but has been in the hands of the Kline family, Mississippi, since it was first built. It is a very reliable car and has been in the hands of the Kline family since it was first built. It is a very reliable car and has been in the hands of the Kline family since it was first built.

High School Literary Societies Have Their First Debate of the Year.

The Philo and Connellville Literary societies of the High School held their first meeting of the year yesterday afternoon. The Philo society met in the Carnegie Free Library, while the Connellville society met in the Assembly room. The same subject for the debate was chosen by both societies. The question debated was "Resolved, That it is for the best interest of the literary societies that they meet every two weeks on the same day and in separate halls."

The Philo debaters were: Affirmative, Virgil Herbert and Milton Bishop; negative, Freda Rhodes and Bernard McFarland, while the Connellville debaters were: Affirmative, Clara Baker and Winifred Woodhall; negative, Clyde Whippley and Mary Thomas. The judges for the Philo society gave their decision in favor of the negative and the Connellville judges' decision was in favor of the affirmative.

The remainder of the Philo program was as follows: Vocal solo, Earl Russell; recitation, Miss Gertrude Brennan; story, Jean Gallagher; essay, Ruth Miller; vocal solo, Marian Munton; story, Nellie Parnswalt; recitation, Max Parnswalt; essay, Harry Landon; piano solo, Mildred Hicks; periodical, Karl Marshall, and Florence Patterson.

The following numbers composed the remainder of the Connellville program: Recitation, Dagnia Hewes; Frank Pierce, Esther Dietz, Joseph Cuneo; essays, Jay Woodhall, George Davis, Kenneth Reid, Lillian Melnick; stories, Freda Miller, Joseph Zimmerman, Leona Featherman; paper, Helen Shaw.

There are few old circus goers who do not remember Barnum's "Spotted Day." He was merely an ordinary man, who works at the Trotter coke works, by turning him from black to white, by the absorption of pigments under the skin.

But had Barnum lived to have seen Bob Dwyer, the plant black-and-white, who works at the Trotter coke works, he would have thrown his spot by him to the circus family.

Bob towers up to 6 feet, 2 inches, weighs 230 pounds and has the strength of two strong men. For several years past he has been changing his hue. This change has of recent years advanced so rapidly, on face and body, that now, Bob presents a most heterogeneous patchwork of colors. He has black spots on other black, but the forehead is white and the division of hues is about equal.

Bob is watching his transformation carefully. In a talk with the writer last night he said that he fully expected in a few years to take his place with blonde among men, as fair as any blonde among men.

Bob is of more than ordinary intelligence, without pomposity or "tricks." He is a widower, and has two children. He has received all sorts of monetary offers to "travel with shows," which he has refused. Dwyer's white transformation is completed. Dwyer will now be seen in the "white folk" in the words of the famous Sam Patch. That some things can be done as well as others.

Bob is an object of extreme interest to his own race. They look on him as an "exposed" Yankee, or savior of their class. A sort of a "She" from the caves of Kor, as it were, or an Unshippian, who held the state as told about by Haggard.

CLAIR STILLWAGON'S WILL IS PROBATED.

His Wife for Life.

R. MARIETTA NAMED EXECUTOR

With Mrs. Stillwagon and Minor Son Marcus, Who However, Can Not Serve—Estate Is to Be Managed Under Advice of E. G. Higbee.

The will of the late Clair Stillwagon, who died Sunday morning, was admitted to probate in Uniontown today when letters testamentary were issued Mrs. Rose Stillwagon, the widow, and Rockwell Marietta, life-long friend and partner of the deceased. Although Marcus Stillwagon was named executor along with the widow and Mr. Marietta the fact that he is still a minor delays him from service in that capacity until he attains his majority.

The document is brief. It covers one typewritten page and part of another one. The disposition of the large estate was made simple by the decedent, for he leaves everything to his wife and provides that after her death each of his children shall have the remainder, share and share alike. The estate is worth $100,000. Of this amount there is $35,000 in personal property, $21,000 in real.

There are two provisions in the will in any way affecting the business of the Stillwagon company of Western Pennsylvania is made the trustee of the share of the oldest son, Donald Stillwagon, who during his life time, is entitled only to the interest on the investment and cannot touch the principal. Later, Stillwagon, brother of the deceased, is named guardian of the youngest son, Alphonso.

Both executrix and executors are directed by the decedent that of an advice and counsel of Attorney E. G. Higbee, who represented Mr. Stillwagon during his lifetime.

The will was made October 25, 1910, the day that the late Clair Stillwagon's demise. It was witnessed by W. D. McGinnis and J. J. Kelly and reads as follows:

I, Clair Stillwagon, of the borough of Connellville, county of Fayette, state of Pennsylvania, being of sound mind and memory and understanding, do hereby make, publish and declare the following to be my last will and testament: FIRST—I direct that all my just debts and the balance of my estate may be paid by my executrix and executors hereinafter named as soon as conveniently may be after my decease.

SECOND—I give, devise and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Rose Stillwagon, all my property, real, personal and mixed, of whatsoever kind or description, and wheresoever the same may be situated, for and during the term of her natural life, and I do hereby direct that my said wife shall use such portion of my personal property and income as may be necessary for the proper support, maintenance and education of our children.

THIRD—After the death of my said wife, Rose Stillwagon, it is my will that all my property, real, personal and mixed, be divided equally among my children, to wit: Donald, Marcus, Alphonso, Marietta, Gertrude, William, Alphonso, Rosella and Dorothy. I do hereby direct that my said wife shall use such portion of my personal property and income as may be necessary for the proper support, maintenance and education of our children.

FOURTH—I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint my said wife, Rose Stillwagon, my son, Marcus Stillwagon, and Rockwell Marietta to be the executrix and executors of this, my last will and testament, and I do hereby further direct that my said executrix and executors be guided and directed in the settlement of my estate by the counsel of E. G. Higbee of Connellville, Pennsylvania. I hereby further select my brother, Gardner Stillwagon, to be the guardian of my son, Alphonso.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this twenty-first day of October, 1910.

Steamer Arcadia Lost in Storm

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The steamer, The Arcadia of the New York and New England line, is either floundering in the ocean somewhere in the South Atlantic far from the horizon of sight or has gone to the bottom with her passengers and crew.

She sailed for New Orleans October 11, from San Juan and since that date has not been heard from.

GOING HOME FOR MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Railroad Difficulties in Sometimes Making Connections on Time.

STORY OF A NARROW ESCAPE

Traveler Tells of How, Enroute For Destination, They Cut Him and Coach Off the Train and He Waited.

"They were telling Christmas stories at a down town hotel last night. Some had tales of disappointment in getting home too late to do Santa Claus and eat partridge turkey. Among the latter was a Mr. Agnew, who is superintending a new local manufacturing proposition.

"I took a train at Marion, Indiana," said he "three years ago for Columbus, Ohio. I had bought my ticket through to Pittsburgh, and was told that I wouldn't have to change cars but, while contentedly into and through Columbus and from there a few hours ride to my home in Pittsburgh.

"We were an hour late in getting in to Columbus. When we arrived I was told that my coach, a rear one, would be laid off—it wouldn't go any further. I saw at once that the train with which we should have made connections had gone; there were no passengers for Pittsburgh—I was the only one—and the company decided that it wouldn't pay to take a coach to Pittsburgh solely on my account.

"But, you'll have to take me," I said to an official. "Day after tomorrow is Christmas. I must get home—besides I bought a through ticket with the understanding that I was to be taken through."

"Well, he took me to some under official; to whom I told the story; he sent me to another officer or superintendent. Again the story was related. And in every case I actually but emphatically insisted that the company must see me to my destination. "How the matter would have been handled, I don't know; but one official that I dropped in on, had an inspiration.

"That poultry train for New York goes out at three this morning," said he. "We can litter you on in the rear."

"And so they coupled a day coach to the rear of the Christmas freight train. I curled up inside and in the midst of catching crowding and goblining the journey through I rode comfortably into Pittsburgh and reached home in time for the big holiday."

The Lutheran Christmas Bazaar.

All plans are complete for the big Lutheran Bazaar, Thursday and Friday evenings, December 15 and 16. Hundreds of Christmas shoppers have found this annual bazaar an ideal place to secure quality hand-made Christmas presents at reasonable prices. This year it will be bigger and better than ever. Many novelties in the way of hand made Christmas clothes for home decorations will be offered for sale. Useful articles such as fine towels, aprons, etc. In connection with this bazaar a delicious chicken and waffle supper will be served each evening from 5 to 9 o'clock for 35 cents.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Connellsville People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.

But nature always warns you. Notice the kidney secretions.

See if the color is unhealthy—

If there are settlements and sediment.

Passages frequent, scanty, painful.

It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in this locality.

Mrs. L. A. Johnson, 52 E. Craig street, Uniontown, Pa., says: "Last summer I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered intensely from backache and pains through my kidneys. Headaches and dizzy spells annoyed me and my kidneys were sluggish. The kidney secretions were unnatural and caused me much annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me at once and in a few days my trouble was relieved. My kidneys are now doing their work properly and I have no aches or pains. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in view of the benefit they have brought me."

For sale by all dealers. Price—50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

NEWS OF A DAY IN SCOTSDALE.

The Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course Gives Two Extra Attractions.

NOT CONDUCTED FOR ANY PROFIT

The Christian Church Takes Up the Religious Campaign They Had Previously Planned and Will Open Tomorrow.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Dec. 10.—The Young Men's Christian Association lecture and entertainment course has made good once more with the people of Scottdale and vicinity. The course is given without profit, all that is received being expended for talent. Before Rev. W. G. Russell of the Baptist Church, introduced George H. Wendling, the lecturer, at the Geyer church on Walnut avenue tomorrow. W. J. Grant announced that all holders of season tickets will be given an opportunity to hear Mr. Wendling again on Sunday afternoon, if having been arranged that he should deliver a lecture at that time at the Presbyterian Church. The doors will be open at 2:30 and from then until 2:15 admission will be free. The ticket only, and after that the general public will be admitted. Mr. Grant then announced that the lecture committee has secured Rev. W. A. Spurgeon, one of the most powerful and brilliant speakers today, to lecture in the course. This with Mr. Wendling's two lectures will make the Scottdale course one of seven attractions. Mr. Wendling lectured on "Soul of Tarzan" last evening and held his audience spellbound from beginning to the end of the lecture. Tomorrow his subject will be "The Man of Galilee."

Closing of the Show.
The Scottdale Poultry and Pet Stock Association's show here closes tonight, after a successful week. The exhibition has been very large and a very creditable one, and those from a distance and those who have attended other shows say that this one compares well with any they have seen.

Christian's Campaign.
The Christian Church, of which Rev. T. B. Sheare is the pastor, will open a revival campaign in their church on Walnut avenue tomorrow, bringing here the evangelists which was engaged for about the time that Davis and Mills were here, and who will now follow them. C. H. L. Vawter is counted one of the greatest evangelists among his people, while Prof. Carroll M. Smith is a leading cornetist, soloist and chorus director. Rev. George's Activities.

Rev. H. H. Seese, of the Evangelical Church is actively engaged in a campaign of religion at his church, and doing a winning work. The congregation is increasing and the church is growing stronger during these meetings. Rev. Mr. Horner of South Fork will be here all next week to assist the pastor.

Bitterly Cold.
Last night was a bitterly cold one, as the phrase goes, and this morning the air was filled with frost, telegraph wires being encased with frost, trees and bushes white with frost. Show which dawned today, and the sun was seen, but was badly frozen up, and horses were at a standstill at 8 o'clock at S. A. Low's thermometer.

CHRISTMAS EVE OF A SHOWMAN.

He Ran Up Against Frank James While "Spielberg" Pictures of Jesse.

FEW MINUTES OF TERROR

Yet, Frank, Who Was Acting As Starter of Horses, Approved and Complimented the Balladancer on Excellence of Attraction.

Showman W. R. Stump, known affectionately as "Ruddy," was at the Trans-Allegheny Hotel last night. He is one of those peculiar people known as "hoon showmen." This may be on account of his voice. He is possessed of a deep, penetrating baritone voice that without effort he can send reverberating across the street, catching the attention of everybody. He has been around towns and villages so many years, and he is yet but 30, many believe he acquired that voice hately, or by absorption.

Stump was with the Dan R. Robinson circus and carnival company last season, as he told to the office habitues of the Trans-Allegheny. Last night, while Landford Goodman and Clark Vance held their breaths in amazement, Stump was announcer and lecturer for the Jesse James moving picture show. This was a very realistic, build series of moving photographs depicting Jesse's train robberies and hold-ups, but the climax was the shooting of Jesse James by Bob Ford.
"We arrived at Birmingham, Ala., the day before Christmas," said Stump, telling the story. "I was the balladancer and had told my story over and over for the afternoon shows—three of them. Suddenly, Curley Hoss, the spider on the animal show came running up. 'Red,' said he. 'Do you know who's here?'"

"I don't," said I. "I don't care, either."
"That Frank James," said he in a crooked, "Trunk James" brother of Jesse—started to the rear."
"It should be said that the carnival company was playing at the time," he said (last week).
"Tell him to come over," I said, "come over and see the picture of the Life and Adventures of his Brother Jesse."
"Man—man! Are you crazy?" shouted Curley. He is liable to shoot every one of you guys."

"Let him shoot, if he don't like it," said I. "Though to confess the truth, I live in this place since September, but about the first part of September this year he got hurt in a fall from a building. He had several ribs broken and was hurt inwardly which has disabled him from doing any manual labor up to this time, and God alone knows when he will be able to do any work. There are six of a family, three boys, aged respectively 8, 11 and 13, having only partial use of their limbs from paralysis. We have sold everything we can spare to live on, even my horse should go to school but they have no money. If you have any No. 1 shoes to keep the little boys from getting too cold, we will thank you many times over. The letter of Mrs. Bufington best explains their circumstances. It is as follows:

As to the facts of my husband's disability I refer you to Dr. James L. Junk of this place. My husband also wishes me to inform, could you find some shoes for him. He is sick in bed and can't do a thing. I think I am qualified to do as for the little boys, I have from getting too cold, we will thank you many times over. The letter of Mrs. Bufington best explains their circumstances. It is as follows:

There is a worthy case for charity at Dundar. It was brought to the attention of the ladies through a letter for address.
Salvation Army, Clarksburg, West Virginia. Some time ago her husband was injured and since that time the family of six has had a hard time making ends meet. The letter of Mrs. Bufington best explains their circumstances. It is as follows:

GOING HOME FOR MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Railroad Difficulties in Sometimes Making Connections on Time.

STORY OF A NARROW ESCAPE

Traveler Tells of How, Enroute For Destination, They Cut Him and Coach Off the Train and He Walked.

They were telling Christmas stories at a downtown hotel last night. Some had tales of disappointment in getting home too late to do Santa Claus and eat pyrotechnic turkey. Among the latter was a Mr. Agnew, who is superintending a new local manufacturing proposition.

"I took a train at Marion, Indiana," said he "three years ago for Columbus, Ohio. I had bought my ticket through to Pittsburgh, and was told that I wouldn't have to change cars but while contentedly into and through Columbus and from there a few hours ride to my home in Pittsburgh.

"We were an hour late in getting in to Columbus. When we arrived I was told that my coach, a rear one, would be laid off—it wouldn't go any further. I saw at once that the train with which we should have made connections had gone; there were no passengers for Pittsburgh—I was the only one—and the company decided that it wouldn't pay to take a coach to Pittsburgh solely on my account.

"But you'll have to take me," I said to an official. "Day after tomorrow is Christmas. I must get home—besides I bought a through ticket with the understanding that I was to be taken through."

"Well, he took me to some 'under official' to whom I told the story; he sent me to another officer or superintendent. Again the story was related. And in every case I grumbled but emphatically insisted that the company must see me to my destination. "How the matter would have eventuated, I don't know; but one official that I dropped in on, had an inspiration.

"That 'poultry' train for New York goes out at three this morning," said he. "We can hitch you on in the rear." And so they occupied a day coach to the rear of the Christmas freight train that was bound for the metropolis. I curled up inside and in the midst of cackling, crowing and gobbling the journey through I rode triumphantly into Pittsburgh and reached home in time for the big holiday.

The Lutheran Christmas Bazaar. All plans are complete for the big Lutheran Bazaar, Thursday and Friday evenings, December 15 and 16. Hundreds of Christmas shoppers have found this annual bazaar an ideal place to secure useful hand-made Christmas presents at reasonable prices. This year it will be bigger and better than ever. Many novelties in the way of hand-made Christmas gifts for home decoration will be offered for sale. Useful articles such as fine towels, aprons, etc. In connection with this bazaar a delicious chicken and waffle supper will be served each evening from 5 to 8 o'clock for 35 cents.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Connellsville People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quickly—mysteriously.

But nature always warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy. If there are settlements and sediment. Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in this locality.

Mrs. L. A. Johnson, 52 1/2 E. Craig street, Uniontown, Pa., says: "Last summer I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered intensely from backache and pains through my kidneys. Headaches and dizzy spells annoyed me and my kidneys were sluggish. The kidney secretions were unnatural and caused me much annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me at once and in a few days my trouble was relieved. My kidneys are now doing their work properly and I have no back or pain. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in view of the benefit they have brought me."

THE RULES OF CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

The acquittal of Louis Gruber, the boy accused of the murder of Frank Ringling last August, was not only agreeable to law, but it also seems to be pleasing to most Marion public sentiment.

The evidence against the lad was purely circumstantial, but on its face it was damning. His room revealed traces of blood. An iron bolt was found there. With some such weapon the fatal blow was struck. Gruber quit his job and apparently fled. When apprehended, he had a watch similar to one carried by the murdered man. The County Detective found it hidden in a barrel of old iron.

But the blood traces in the boy's room were accounted for by natural causes. He explained the presence of the iron bolt. He gave due notice before leaving his job. His flight, if it be construed, extended over but a few miles and ended at the home of relatives. The watch is perhaps the most notorious feature of the whole case. Gruber claims to have bought it in Pittsburgh, but other evidence tends to show that was Ringling's watch. Yet, when asked for his watch, Gruber unhesitatingly pointed out the place where it was hidden. Why did he hide it there? He was a boy.

The case of the Commonwealth, therefore, was placed through and through by the darts of doubt, and in the language of Judge Van Swearingen in charging the jury:

In order to warrant a conviction upon circumstantial evidence the proof must be absolutely incompatible with the innocent and consistent upon rational theory and incapable of explanation upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of guilt. To establish a PROBABILITIES of guilt is not sufficient. Each fact necessary to establish a conviction must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. The facts must be consistent with each other and with the innocent theory. TAKEN TOGETHER THEY MUST BE OF A CONCLUSIVE NATURE, LEADING TO A SATISFACTORY AND SURE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE GUILT OF THE DEFENDANT TO A MORAL CERTAINTY.

Besides, there is reason to suspect that the jury hearkened to the counsel for the defense when he intimated that the Commonwealth's case was based on certain testimony which might have turned to the advantage of his client. The rules of evidence are founded in wisdom, but it seems odd that a boy on trial for his life may not produce all the evidence he could muster, if he may have in his justification.

The Point Marion murder remains a mystery. The blood of "Daddy" Ringling still cries out for vengeance. It will not cry in vain. Murder will out. The mystery will some day be solved. In the meantime, let it be remembered that the rules governing circumstantial evidence were not made for Louis Gruber alone.

Colonel Bryan has announced his intention to oppose to the nomination of an eastern man for President on the Democratic ticket. It can be seen, it must not be anybody from "The enemy's country."

This Merry Christmas weather is getting just a little too strenuous in its endeavor to reach the bottom of the mercury tube.

The borough is short of money just now. It's a common complaint.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch believes that the purpose of the celebrated "where's the money" question is to state what the purpose was. Of course, it tells us nothing new. The question of public sentiment on the question of the election of a Senator by popular vote, but the real purpose was to annoy the publisher of a rival newspaper who now occupies a seat in the United States Senate and who looks a real section.

PROSECUTOR SOAKED.

For the Costs in a Somerset County Road Case.

SOMERSET, Dec. 10.—After deliberating for three hours, the jury in the prosecution for neglecting roads under their care preferred against the supervisors of Adams township by Charles H. Bird, returned a verdict of not guilty and placed all the costs on the prosecutor. The case was brought on by the supervisors of Adams township, who were charged with neglecting the roads under their care. The jury found in favor of the supervisors, and the prosecutor was ordered to pay the costs.

Winter Goods
We are prepared to save money for you on goods that are suitable for the weather now prevailing. We call special attention to our attractive prices on Rubbers and Overalls. The shoe dealers of the city, worried by the low prices we are quoting are saying the reason we are selling so cheaply is because the rubbers are old stock. Don't You Believe It. Every pair are fresh, bright, new goods. All come in since October 1st. We are satisfied with a moderate profit, and are not trying to boost the price.

The wholesale price of Rubber Goods has dropped in the last 30 days, and the price never did advance as much as some dealers try to make you believe. We have new bright rubbers at the following low prices, and have 40 cases more coming in this week. With your cooperation we expect to sell every pair at the price is right.

Ladies' Rubbers, storm or plain pattern, others price 65c. 45c

SCHMITZ'
New York Racket Store

Christmas Footwear

You will see that we are ready for Christmas. We have bought heavy and have nearly everything that you can ask for in the line of Christmas Footwear.

Nothing more acceptable, nothing more useful to give your friends than Footwear, such as Slippers, Shoes, Gum Boots, Arctics or Leggings.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS
High Top Shoes will satisfy any of them, if they don't have a pair they should and if you give them a pair they will be pleased. Far better to load them down with footwear of this kind than with tin wagons and cheap candy toys. Christmas money expended here will not be wasted. See our windows for display.
